

We've got what it takes

... in business planning

Your questions:

- I've got an innovative business idea in the pharma/biotech area and want to compile a professional business plan to convince prospective investors. Who will help me with this?
- My business plan lacks an assessment of chances and risks regarding my business idea. I need somebody to analyse the market situation and make a realistic estimation. Where may I find help?
- For my business plan an adequate investment plan must be compared to a financing plan. Where do I find professional support and assistance in this matter?

Our service:

ASPIRAS is skilled in the field of business planning in the pharma and biotech sector. ASPIRAS supports entrepreneurs in building a business idea into a business plan. Thus potential investors will be convinced of the profitability of their investment in the enterprise via sound arguments.

ASPIRAS can provide you with important market information to estimate the potential of your company realistically.

To ensure the financing of your enterprise, you should let ASPIRAS compile an investment plan. It makes sense to compare the investment plan to a financing plan.
