

We've got what it takes

... in financing

Your questions:

- We want to write a business plan for fundraising to present ourselves to investors professionally. Who will support us in this task?
- To be able to estimate the costs for a new project all necessary investments must be calculated. Where will we find support?
- We seek other financing partners for our company. Who will help us to find them?

Our service:

ASPIRAS evaluates individual projects as well as whole portfolios of projects and products and entire companies. The evaluation is based on the competitive situation and the relevant market. This gives potential investors the opportunity to consider their own opportunities and risks in the intended investment.

ASPIRAS assists entrepreneurs in compiling a business plan. The optimal presentation of a start-up company to the prospective investors and banks is essential for a commercial commitment. ASPIRAS collects all necessary data and creates a professional business plan. ASPIRAS supports you in finding investors for your business concept.
